Seattle Overview

Seattle is a thriving metropolis nestled on the Puget Sound, just 25 miles from the property. It serves as the cultural and commercial hub of the region, as well as the county seat of King County. Seattle is the largest city in both Washington state and the Pacific Northwest, with a metropolitan population of 4.14 million. The city's population grew by 11,572 people last year, the fifth largest numeric increase among big cities in the country (U.S. Census Bureau, 2026).

Retail & Restaurants

Seattle has a thriving food scene, home to over 4,000 restaurants, bars, and coffee shops. On the waterfront just one mile north of the property is the world-famous Pike Place Market, one of the most popular destinations in Seattle. Garnering over 10 million visitors a year, the market features more than 200 locally-owned shops and 80 restaurants. Pike Place is home to the original Starbucks storefront, while the company's headquarters is located in the SoDo neighborhood in south Seattle. Locals also enjoy easy access to numerous retail centers, including shopping malls such as Westlake Center and Pacific Place in downtown Seattle.

Outdoors & Sports

Known as the "Emerald City" for its lush evergreen forests, the city is surrounded by mountains, with the Olympic Mountains to the west and the Cascades to the east. Residents can enjoy hiking or cycling along the 120 miles of trails in Seattle. In the winter, skiing and snowshoeing are popular, while the summer months facilitate kayaking or sailing on Lake Washington and Lake Union. Lumen Field, home to the NFL Seahawks and MLS Sounders, and T-Mobile Park, home to the MLB Mariners, are both within a 36-minute drive from Bluffs at Evergreen. Both venues also host national concert tours, and Lumen Field has broken the Guinness World Record for loudest stadium twice in the past decade. At Seattle Center, Key Arena's $1.15 billion redevelopment project was completed in October 2021. Renamed the Climate Pledge Arena, the 800,000-square-foot complex is home to the NHL Kraken, WNBA Storm, and PWHL Torrent teams.

Seattle Economy

Seattle has a highly diversified economy. The city is a global leader in both technology and healthcare, in addition to maintaining a strong presence in aerospace, retail, and manufacturing. Moreover, the region's steady financial services, real estate, and hospitality industries stabilize the economy from fluctuations. There are five Fortune 500 companies headquartered within city limits, and five more based in the greater Puget Sound area (Fortune, 2026).

The Seattle-Tacoma-Bellevue, WA MSA generated $566.74 billion last year, making it the 10th largest economy in the nation (U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, 2025). The city has seen rapid job growth in recent years, outpacing the national average for the past decade. Residents enjoy abundant job opportunities, as the metro's employment has grown by 18.41% over the past decade (U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, 2025).

Global Tech Hub

Home to more than 7,500 startups, Seattle is a hotbed for entrepreneurs, with an integrated network of venture capital funds, angel investors, accelerators, and co-working spaces. Over the past year, Seattle tech startups have garnered around $3.2 billion in funding (Growth List, 2025).

Seattle is known as a global center for cloud computing and software development. In addition to locally-based tech giants Amazon and Microsoft, over 80 global technology firms including Alphabet, Meta, and Uber have established satellite offices in Seattle. Amazon's recent return-to-office policy has helped revitalize local businesses, with downtown Seattle's worker foot traffic reaching 94% of 2019 levels (Downtown Seattle Association, 2025).

The Port's assets also include Seattle-Tacoma International Airport, two cruise ship terminals, and Fishermen's Terminal which houses the North Pacific fishing fleet. Altogether, the Port supports over 200,000 jobs, with plans to add 100,000 jobs in the next 20 years. The Port of Seattle and the Port of Tacoma make up the Northwest Seaport Alliance. More than 25 million metric tons of cargo passed through the two ports last year, supporting over 52,100 jobs and generating $14 billion in business output (The Northwest Seaport Alliance, Port of Tacoma, and Port of Seattle Economic Impact Analysis, 2025).

Income and Expense Notes

(1) Market Rent: Analysis reflects stabilized rent growth throughout the hold period.

(2) Section 8 Voucher Overhang: Due to Section 8 vouchers in excess of the current asking rents. As of July 22, 2026, 20 units were using vouchers. Analysis reflects this voucher income continuing.

(3) Loss-to-Lease: Underwriting assumes all new residents will be charged the Year 0 asking rent shown on the unit mix. Absorption of the proposed Year 0 asking rents for existing residents reflects ongoing stabilization over the first 12 months.

(4) Gross Potential Rent: Year 0 reflects the July 22, 2026 rent roll GPR annualized.

(5) Vacancy: As of July 22, 2026, the property was 97.2% occupied and 99.1% leased.

(6) Real Estate Taxes: See Real Estate Tax Analysis on the following page.

(7) Property Insurance: Year 0 reflects CBRE estimate of market underwriting.

(8) Water/Sewer: Reduction based on the July 2026 consumption report following the low-flow water saver project completed in November 2025.

(9) Security Contract: Year 0 reflects CBRE estimate of market underwriting.
